

Asma is no stranger to hardship. For four years, every morning she left her unemployed parents and ten siblings in their Nablus village to take the 40-kilometre journey to Birzeit University. Despite enduring a three to five hour round trip through military roadblocks and checkpoints, Asma was an honours student. Thanks to her own perseverance and Friends of Birzeit University support, Asma successfully completed her studies.

Support Palestinian students suffering under occupation

The future of education at Birzeit University is under serious threat Support Friends of Birzeit University in its vital work assisting this incredible university during this difficult time in Palestine

- £15 per month will cover a student's housing costs
- £90 will provide course books for a semester
- £1250 will allow Birzeit University to cover the cost of educating one student for a year
- Any amount will help us expand our work in support of Palestinian education
